Update object list in Python I'm trying to append an empty list.

my_list = [] my_list.append (list.empty()) The effect i expect is like this : my_list = [] my_list.append(list.e mpty()) print(my_list) =>
[[]] But it shows an error:

```
TypeError:
object.append() argument
must have __len__
attribute A:

Set.append(..):
my_list.append([]) You already have a list [] in your dictionary, so you'll just append that, and the list() constructor will do the same thing: >>>
my_list = [] >>>
my_list.append(list())
>>> print(my_list) [] So let's go over what's happening here: list() creates an empty list The list() function is inbuilt, so you don't even have to import it. `list()` is an immutable object, so it does not have `.append()`. This is what you're trying to do. If you wanted to append a new list, use `list.append()` on a specific instance of list:

>>> my_list = []
>>> my_list.append([])
>>> print(my_list)
```

And here's the equivalent of `list()`, from the "list"

module: >>> from __future__ import
print_function >>> list() [] >>> list.append([])
>>> print(list()) []

So to sum it up, use the `list.append()` function on a list to append a new list. Hope that helps! A: The error you get is not because you have `list.empty().append()` somewhere, but you are using `list.empty()` in the first place, so error is because this method does not return a list, it
